

TOO BLUE TO BE BLACK, TOO BLACK TO BE BLUE

A VIEWING AND CONVERSATION

They are African-American men and women, who choose every day to serve and protect. But “Do the Community and Caucasian Officers accept African American officers?” Despite that question, Black and Brown Officers have functioned and continue to function as the color paradigm shifts from a predominately white male occupation to a more blended work force. This documentary from a personal perspective will explore the history of those relationships in the land of the free.

Wednesday, November 30, 2016

6:00pm

James E. Gleason Hall, Room 2580 (Xerox Auditorium)

To request interpreting services, go to myaccess.rit.edu

Panel Participants:

Marvin Stepherson,
Retired RPD Sgt.,
Author/Writer

---

Mikhail Gershteyn, Producer/Director

---

Adam McFadden,
Rochester City
Councilman

---

Tonya Noel, Director
of Cause and Effect;
Organizer for BLACK

---

Je'Carl Hill, Youth
Organizer, Teen Empowerment

Supported by:

College of Liberal Arts

Department of Criminal Justice

Office of Diversity and Inclusion